

I am writing because I am outraged that Sinclair
Broadcasting is forcing television stations to air an extremely biased,
anti John Kerry, documentary called
Stolen Honor.
While I am not a Democrat, I believe it is NOT morally
sound to let public stations air
something like this right before the presidential election. If Sinclair
Broadcasting was to
ALSO require their stations to air
something equally negative about our other presidential candidate, that might be a public service.
But they are not and it is an extreme and harmful disservice
to American citizens.
It is wrong for a broadcasting company
to try to influence the public like that! The stations are obligated to act in the public's best interest- but they are not and that is breaking the law.
Please, our country
needs the FCC to act on corrupt
broadcasting
practices like this.

Intentionally airing
a significant show that attacks a
presidential candidate before an election, without airing anything with similar content
about the other candidate, is indecent.

Lisa Eldredge

